Scenario:

You are a busy college freshman trying to adjust to college life. You find yourself constantly busy with work and free time taken up studying. You would like to know an easy way to calculate your current grades and grades needed to pass the class by a certain letter grade.

Task 1: Enter All the weights of your grades

Task 2: Enter the grades for your class.

Task 3: Lable and save this class to update later and keep up with.

Notes:

What changes should I make?

Add the option to control the grade types in the chance that the class has different assignments with different weights.

Add the option to choose which letter grade you wish to pass with not just the grade needed to make an A.

What you need to keep the same for your application?

The way to input the grades and percentages.

The option to label multiple classes and go back and edit them.
